Research Activities

- 2019 Developing common European standards in judicial control of Public Administration. Thanks to a grant financed by DAAD-Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst, I spent the month of February in Speyer working on a project on “Developing common European standards in judicial control of Public Administration. A case-based approach to foster compliance with the right to an effective legal remedy” (supervisor prof. K.-P. Sommermann). I started researching this topic on January, while I was Visiting Researcher in France, at the University of Paris Nanterre (supervisor prof. F. Folliot-Lalliot).

- 2017 Review Procedures “in between” (“tra”) Administrative Procedure and Judicial Procedure before Administrative Courts. My research focused on non-judicial remedies which are “in between” (“tra”) Administrative Procedure and Judicial Procedure before Administrative Courts. I analysed the national Internal Review Procedures, in order to verify the possibility to re-evaluate their role in the Italian legal system, and also Procedures before quasi-judicial bodies. Part of the research was devoted to the comparison between the Italian and German “Review Bodies” on Public Procurement. The mentioned topics are developed in the Monograph, published on 2017, “Tra procedimento e processo. Contributo allo studio delle tutele nei confronti della pubblica amministrazione”.
- 2016-2017 EU Procedural Fairness in the Perspective of the Codification on Administrative Procedure
 Since the award of the Research Fellowship at the University of Florence, issued with the founds of the project PRIN/2012 (Research Project of National Interest) about “The codification of Administrative Procedural Rules in the EU”, I’m studying the principle of “due process” in the light of the codification of administrative procedural rules in the EU. Thanks to research carried out, I attended a collective publication coordinated by prof. G. della Cananea and M. Conticelli by drafting the Chapter on “Composite procedures in Implementation of EU policies in Agricultural matters and procedural guarantees: the “Borelli Doctrine” in the Light of Model Rules” (forthcoming in English version).
- 2014 Administrative Procedure in the EU Law
 During the month spent as visiting researcher at the Max Plank Institute of Heidelberg, Germany, I worked on the project “The Identification of common administrative procedural principles between the Italian and the other systems”.
- 2011-2014 Administrative Procedure
 My PhD research was focused on the Italian Administrative Procedure, analysed in comparison with the Judicial Procedure before Administrative Courts. The comparison showed the existence of an irreducible core principles of due process applicable to any legal system.
- 2010 Interim Protection in the Italian Code of Procedure before Administrative Courts
 My second level Degree thesis was focused on the interim protection introduced by the Italian Code of Administrative Court Procedure which was in the process of being adopted. Thanks to research carried out during the graduation, in 2013, I attended a collective publication on the new Code by drafting the chapter on “Il procedimento cautelare” (Interim Protection in the Code of Procedure before Administrative Courts).
